

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

April 24, 2018

CONTACT:

Kristen Jenkins
425-522-4811
kristen@oxiscience.com

Oxiscience to Showcase NonScents Odor Control Products at SuperZoo 2018

OxiScience will exhibit NonScents odor control products for pets and home at the SuperZoo National Show for pet retailers on June 26-28, 2018 at the Mandalay Bay Convention Center, Las Vegas, Nevada.

Located in Booth 4478, OxiScience is showcasing NonScents flagship products that eliminate bad smelling pet odors ranging from carpet accidents, cat litter, and more. These products have garnered over 1000+ reviews and 5 stars on Amazon.

CEO, Simon Johnston says, “Our NonScents products work like magic! Our products eliminate pet odors quickly, safely, and completely.”

Specializing in odor control, OxiScience welcomes questions about the technology behind the products which eliminate pet odors safely. For additional information on NonScents products visit www.nonscents.com.

SuperZoo is North America’s largest pet trade show bringing together buyers and sellers from across the country. Produced by the World Pet Association (WPA) the show attracts around 18,000 retailers, product suppliers and service providers at each annual event. For more information about SuperZoo 2018: www.superzoo.org .

About OxiScience:

OxiScience is a group of passionate people who embarked on a mission to improve the quality of everyday life by inventing innovative products that deliver effective and long-lasting odor control. The company was created by a team of seasoned Ph.D. scientists specialized in microbiology, chemistry, and veterinary medicine. OxiScience pursues original scientific concepts to solve pervasive malodor and microbially generated problems affecting everyday life at household and institutional levels.

###