

Slow your dog down.

Eating too quickly is often referred to as “wolfing” down your food for a reason; many dogs instinctively eat too quickly, which can cause an abundance of issues such as choking, vomiting, and bloat, due to over consumption and air intake.

Tarhong is launching their new collection of Slow Chow pet feeders at this year’s SuperZoo! The new collection of feeders ensure our furry friends enjoy their food at a fun and healthy pace. These products were designed to promote healthy digestion and make mealtime last longer through the use of mazes, shapes and ridges.

Such features keep dogs engaged and stimulates mental exercise during meal time. Similar to TarHong’s existing pet feeder collection, products are 100% BPA free, PVC and phthalate free, break resistant, and dishwasher safe. Each one is designed with a non-skid base to reduce sliding and tipping.

The collection is being offered in three clever designs shown below; from left to right Concentric Circle – the lipped border keeps spillage from seeping onto floors, Paw Maze, and Flower Feeder. All styles are available in neutral grounded gray, navy and white to fit easily into your home décor. Products will be available to ship April 15, 2017.
