earthbath's New "No Chew" Spray Uses Special Bittering Agents To Keep Dogs From Chewing And Biting On Coat And Skin SuperZoo Booth 3053

This spray-on topical helps deter chewing on areas such as paws, itchy skin, hot spots, sores, tails and more!

San Francisco, CA (Aug. 20, 2019) – earthbath® is proud to introduce its new No Chew Spray. This product is formulated with special bittering agents that are designed to help deter dogs from chewing and biting on their skin and coat. Simply spray on the affected area and repeat as needed until the unwanted chewing and biting behavior is gone.

"This spray is great for dogs with problems such as hot spots and sores that they are constantly chewing on and biting," says Paul Armstrong, President of earthbath. "Simply spray it on the affected areas and its especially bitter taste will prevent dogs from chewing and help promote faster healing to the affected areas. It is also useful around the house if you have a problem chewer, such as a puppy, in your home. I'm sure that's great news for a lot of dog parents."

earthbath's No Chew Spray is made using natural ingredients that are developed and blended in the USA using ingredients including hydrolyzed pea protein, hydrolyzed vegetable protein, meadowfoam seed oil, botanical fragrance of apple and special bittering agents. But just as important as what goes into this spray are the things that don't. This spray contains no alcohol, parabens, synthetic dyes, sulfates or phthalates. It is safe to use on dogs and puppies over six weeks old. No Chew Spray should not be used on cats.

"We design all earthbath products with the health of your furry friend in mind," added Armstrong. "We believe the ingredients that touch your pet's coat and skin should be as naturally effective, non-toxic and gentle as possible. It is the way we have always done things and we will continue to do it that way."
